

1. To prevent Hepatitis A, you can get an Hepatitis A vaccine
2. Hydrophobia
3. Antiviral Drugs
4. Tinea
5. AIDS is considered a syndrome and not a disease because it is treatable and has many different symptoms.
6. Nanotraps are used to imitate the surface of a cell membrane so if a virus enters, it gets trapped.
7. The viral disease is Chicken Pox. Chicken Pox creates small pimple like spots on the skin and it easily spreads if it is popped. Chicken Pox can become inactive in a host for many years until it becomes active again.
8. HIV is a viral disease that attacks and weakens the human's immune system. This causes the host to become more vulnerable to other diseases.

A retrovirus is a type of virus that has RNA for its genetic material.

9. 1) Bacteria 2) Protozoan 3) Virus

10. Fungi can be useful in many different ways. One way is in bakers yeast, yeast is a type of fungi. Yeast is used in bread making to produce CO_2 . This makes the dough rise and make it fluffier and softer.

11.

Amoebic Dysentery	Virus
Rabies	Virus
Measles	Virus

12. Protozoa are single celled organisms that fall into the Protista kingdom.