

Name → Harshdeep Course → DDP

Father name = Hakam Singh Abhyas - 9306678433

Date: _____

Page: _____

Q1

Ans → Power supply → A power supply unit converts mains M A c to low-voltage regulated Dc Power for the internal Components of a Computer. Modern personal Computers universally use switched-mode power supplies. Some power supplies have a manual switch for selecting the input voltage, while others automatically adapt to the mains voltage.

Motherboard: — The definition of a motherboard ~~with~~ is an electronic device into which circuits or wires are connected and plugged.

Q2

Ans → System software → The software that runs the computer by activity controlling and coordinating the hardware is system software. They also control the application programmes on the computer. They differ according to the function they need to perform in the computer.

System. Some Explain Examples are Operating system, BIOS etc.

Q9. Ques - 4

Ans) An output device is a piece of Computer hardware that receives data from a Computer and then tr. That data into another Computer That form may be audio, visual, or hard copy such as printed document

Some output device

① monitor :- A monitor consists of a circuitry, power, supply buttons to adjust screen setting and a casing that contains all of these components.

Q10
Ans)

Q.3.

Ans →

System software serves as the interface between the application software and the hardware of the computer. It manages the computer resources and enables the computer function smoothly. On the other hand, the application software serves as an interface between the system software and end-users.